FRIDAY DECEMBER 15 1944

NUMBER 31

Funeral Services For Brian Bennett

The Stako House was filled on Friday afternoon when services were held over the remains of P.O. Brian Bennett, Navigator in the R.C.A.F. who was killed in an airplane crash in Debert, Nova Scotia, last week on his last flight before a furlough home before posting for overseas duty. A large number of airmen and airwomen from No. 8 B & G School Lethbridge were present and the 22 year old airman, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Bennett, a pioneer family of the district was given full military honors.

Bishop L. L. Palmer was in charge of the services and the combined choirs of both wards were directed by Jos McLean, with Mrs. Emma Dahl at the organ.

The opening hymn was "Thou Deepening Trials Through Your Way" with Elder T. O. King offering the invocation after which the choir sang "Sometime We'll Understand."

Elder Melvin T. King of the Stake Presidency was the first speaker and took for his text some verses from the hymn "Sometime We'll Understand". He said that while death was always a cause of sorrow there was a very definite hope in the promises, and that while the body of this young man was burned and bruised in the crash, in the resurrection this body would be restored to all its perfection and loveliness. He referred to deceased as one of our boys who had grown up here and received his schooling in Raymond and then gone out to fight for us and had paid the supreme sacrifice in so doing. Surely no man could do more for his fellowmen than he who would lay down his life for his friends and that was what Brian had done.

Elder Lyman Jacobs, Principal of the High School and a teacher of deceased spoke of the fine disposition that Brian always exhibited. His cheerfulness, his willingness to serve and his studiousness during his years in school. When his schooling was finished he offered his services to his country, and from all reports and from letters received by the family his progress in the Air Force had been steady and his records had been very good. Such a personality cannot but help to add to the well being of the spirits on the other side, and while we all grieve his passing, his mission is its doubt more important where he is.

"Goin' Home" was sung by Jos. McLean by special request.

FAMILY NIGHT AT FIRST WARD

Sunday night was Family Night in the First Ward and the program was furnished by the E. M. Kiddie family, in the nature of a Christmas program. The stories of several of the Xmas carols were given by Mr. and Mrs. Kiddie and the children and Mrs. Kiddie sang the numbers. A special number was a Violin quartette by Mr. Kiddie and three of his pupils, The Couch Kids. Mrs. Kay Redd accompanied all numbers at this piano. A talk by Mr. Kiddie and the song "Silent Night" by the two girls concluded a very interesting meeting. There was a large and attentive and hence present.

Lee Brownson was in Calgary on business last Friday.

Pres. T. Geo. Wood paid high tribute to deceased, and all the rest of the fine boys and girls who were offering their lives to defend and protect our way of life. To uphold the high ideals of our country and our church as deceased had done required a high standard of courage and the growing parents and brothers and sisters should take consolation from the fact that this young man had made.

"Crossing the Bar" was sung by Frank Taylor and Co. and then in a few closing remarks, Bishop Palmer said his tribute to deceased and to the Bennett family all of whom were so ready at any time to serve where ever asked. On behalf of the family he thanked all who had assisted in any way in this time of sorrow.

The closing hymn was "Nearer My God to Thee" F. L. Scott read the Air Force Prayer and the benediction was pronounced by Elder Jos. A. Nilsson.

Six members of the R.C.A.F. were pall bearers and all airmen present marched ahead of the hearse to the middle of the business section where military cars took them to the cemetery. As the casket was being lowered into the grave, draped with a large Union Jack the usual volley of rifle fire was given and the Last Post sounded as a final tribute to the departed airman.

People were present from all over Southern Alberta and the large audience and lovely floral offerings were sent tributes to the memory of deceased and the Bennett family.

Give Your Pint Of Blood

Raymond has started a Blood Donors Clinic, which after Jan. 9th Tuesday will be held in the forenoon of each and every Tuesday. Many of us have used the excuse heretofore that we could not get to Lethbridge, now we do not have that excuse. We can give our pint of blood right here at home, and we should really turn to and do our share with Cardston, Magrath and other Southern Alberta towns to make the blood bank in Lethbridge really flourish. The blood will be taken from these towns into Lethbridge for refrigerating and preparing for shipment.

It will be necessary for twelve to register for each week's clinic. So call the Doctor's office and submit ACT TODAY.

Hon. Solon Low Here Tuesday Evening

The Social Credit Constituency and the interval was spent in visiting.

The general meeting commenced shortly after 8 p.m. and during their talks both speakers pledged themselves to the hard-surfacing of the Coats Lethbridge highway as they felt that this was a very essential link in the highway system that the organization was succeeded by A. E. Hancock Raymond, with Harlow Wright of Coats and Leo Halcroft of Lethbridge as Vice President and E. M. Kiddie of Raymond continuing as Secretary of the group. A general discussion of the affairs of the Constituency took place after which the Executive met for detail organization.

At 6 p.m. a very delicious plate supper was served to a well-sized crowd.

The Hon. Solon Low also criticized the advanced policies of Socialism that were being spread in Canada and the findings of certain old time parties to Socialism in order to hold office. He said he planned to expose and oppose the C.C.F. right across Canada.

Albert Hicken, New Dayton Wins $10,000 Treasure Chest Draw

Albert Hicken, New Dayton farmer Valley, $250, $10,000 richer today and he can't hardly realize it yet.

Mr. Hicken, formerly catcher on the Raymond basketball team, won the Navy League's Treasure Chest and the $10,000 Victory Bond in the draw made at Edmonton Saturday night.

"I didn't know a thing about it until a friend of mine, Lorin Larsen, drove out from Raymond and broke the news. I had missed the early news broadcast Saturday night and I couldn't hardly believe my ears when Lorin told me my ticket had been drawn but at 10 o'clock it was confirmed over the air, and, well I guess it's true alright, although I haven't heard a thing officially," said the delighted farmer Sunday.

He is married and has a son over seas—P.O. Edward Hicken, and his Howard has just about finished his "tour of ops."

The seller of the winning ticket shares the wealth distributed by the Navy League and will get $1,000.

Several other Southern Albertans, including Mrs. Paul Jenkins of Lethbridge, won prizes in the draw.

Other winners follow:
S. Samych's, Radway, $2,500; R. W. Chocknecky, Coleman, $1,000; J. May, 1041 5th St. E. Calgary $250; George Hargreaves, Knechtill are progressing rapidly.

TIRE SAVER

(Australian News Letter)
A Melbourne man has invented a device to protect the inner tubes of automobile tires. Made from canvas stripped from the inside of scrapped covers, it wraps round the inner tube and as the tube is inflated, corrugations on the overlap, made from reclaimed rubber, interlock and hold the sleeve in position. Both cover and tube are reinforced, and the effect of fractures or holes in the cover are eliminated.

The government is testing the idea.

While we are enjoying summer weather here, Toronto and adjacent districts experienced one of the worst snow storms and blizzards in its history Monday and Tuesday, 21 and 22, of snow falling followed by high winds which piled up huge drifts and paralyzed business and traffic. The death toll in the storm was 24. Several died from heart attacks following over-exertion in snow shovelling.

BEEF BY-PRODUCTS AND MILK FLAVOR

It is common knowledge, gained through experience that beef tops, beet pulp and molasses have a high feeding value in finishing of cattle and sheep. Less well known but equally true is the fact that for dairy cattle these by-products can form a valuable constituent of the ration. However, experience has also shown that when they are fed to milk cows they often lead to the production of milk with undesirable flavors.

Work in the United States has shown that beet molasses, molasses beet pulp, and beet tops contain a chemical called betaine. This chemical is absorbed into the blood stream and then transferred into the milk and gives rise to an undesirable flavor in the milk. From the work referred to it was noted that the concentration of this chemical in the blood normally reached its highest point about 6 hours after feeding molasses or molasses beet pulp. Further observation indicated that when the concentration of betaine was high in the blood it was transferred to the milk in sufficient quantities to produce off flavor, usually referred to in this case as a fishy taint.

From the practical standpoint this simply means that if milk producers wish to make use of the beet by-products in their dairy ration and at the same time wish to produce a high quality product it is essential that great care be used in the feeding of any of the beet by-products. In view of the time element involved the only safe time at which to feed these by-products would be immediately after milking. By feeding at this time there would be a period of roughly 10 hours from the time of feeding to the next milking and a large exceptionally large amount of the beet by-products are being fed this should permit of their consumption and digestion and the removal of the betaine from the blood stream long before the next milking period arrives. Consequently, if this program of feeding is followed there is no valid reason why the beet by-products cannot be fed satisfactorily and still permit the production of high quality milk of good flavor.

As is well known to all who have used the feed, beet pulp normally has a rather strong odor and it has often been assumed that the off flavor in milk has been the result of the absorption of this odor. If the beet pulp was being fed during milking time or was being stored in the barn, this can happen but as indicated above this is not the only reason for beet by-products causing off flavors in milk. Nevertheless it certainly is bad practice to feed pulp while the cows are being milked or to store the pulp in the barn where the odors would permeate the milking room.

FRISKY KITTY PLUS A DITTY

Greenwich, Conn., Nov. 29. —Because a trap had her cat by the paw, Mrs. Russell Taylor called the law and police responded with all speed to see that the animal was freed.

The cat, its paw still caught by the trap, had fled from a dog whose bark and yap had chased it into a driveway drain. The police, to ease the kitty's pain, did some digging and then were quick to probe the pipe with a good long stick.

Out dashed the cat with tiny a look at the cop who lunged—and fell in a brook. But the cat was caught and sent to a vet, while the police retired both weary & wet. Then from Mrs. Taylor came an her cat. It wasn't she'd learned her cat at all. Her pet it seems, had come out to rear and just that moment had come back home.

The amount was over half a million dollars and brings the total price to date to $7.75 per ton and there will be bonuses to add as the year's make of sugar is marketed.

Wheat Varieties in 1944

It looks as though the wheat varieties now recommended in the Prairie Provinces have pretty well settled down. A few interesting comparisons between provinces follow.

Manitoba

Regent increased sharply, from 24.7% in 1943, to 34.9%. It now threatens the supremacy of Thatcher which fell from 45.6% in 1943, to 39.2% this year. Renown declined from 19.9% to 10.6%.

Saskatchewan

The picture in Saskatchewan is simple. Thatcher continues to increase at the expense of all other varieties. Even Regent fell off a little this year. One interesting exception to this statement deserves attention. Our old friend Garnet is on the increase in the north. In Zone 4, the grey wooded soil area, Garnet increased from 2.2% o. the average in 1943 to 6.2% in 1944.
This development is even more pronounced in Alberta.

Alberta

Though Red Bobs continues to slip a little, it is still the most popular variety in Alberta by a wide margin. This year, it occupied 44.2% of the acreage. Thatcher increased from 14.0%, in 1943, to 16.4% this year. Marquis declined from 30.1% to 27.3%. This year, Garnet occupied 6.0% of the Alberta acreage; last year, only 2.7%. In Zone 4A, the grey wooded soils area, less Peace River Block, Garnet increased from 13.5% to 20.6%.

The above figures are comparable with those published in this column last year. They are unweighted averages of elevator agents' estimates. They do not check with the figures in Circular No. 7, which were weighted by total wheat acreages at shipping points. The differences do not materially affect the comparisons we have made.
